We typically think of programs as sequences of operations. But compilers manipulate them as expression "trees":

The translation from sequence to trees is called parsing (see e.g. lab 3, homework 2,...)